ECMA

Standardizing information and communication systems

ECMA is an international industry association founded in 1961 and dedicated to the standardization of information and communication systems.

This CD-ROM presents all aspects of ECMA and makes available the results of the ECMA standardization work to all interested persons and organizations, free of charge and copyright.

What is ECMA

- Members
- Publications
- Technical Committees
- Activities

Version 10.0 – February 2001 40th Anniversary Issue